* Footnote discussion related to rule I, B, 4 “...There are no refunds or rollovers for mares nominated to breeding purchased at the stallion auction..”

This means that if you bought a breeding at the Stallion services auction and you do not have a mare pregnant from that breeding at the end of the breeding year -you are not eligible to roll that nomination/breeding into another Auction class breeding year, nor are you eligible for any subsequent Auction Yearling classes. At first this may seem rigid but consider the following:

1 You still own the breeding.

2 In this program you are not required to designate a mare ahead of time. If your first choice of mare does not work you may use another mare. Considering you bought the breeding in May and it is not for use until the following year, you have more than a year and a half to work this out.

3 If you do use the breeding you can nominate the mare into the non-auction classes and participate in all of the classes the Futurity except the Yearling Auction classes.

4 The reason for this rule is clear after you think about it for a minute. There is not a good way for us to track and move the money from one year to another. For example, if you bought a breeding in one year and the total Auction Breeding class prize money was $100,000 that year. With that breeding you have bought the right to compete for part of that $100,000. Then let's say for sake of example, you don't get your mare pregnant. But the next year's auction breeding class money is $200,000. There is no good way for us to move your money from one year to the next and keep track of that. Plus your money is part of what the other competitors are hoping to win. We cannot, in fairness, withdraw it
